

ENGLAND

Seas and River

Large cities (over 500,000)

Other big cities

Famous places

Information about England

This document is a map, it represents England. In the east of England, there is the North Sea. In the south between England and France, there is the English Channel.

There are about 56.5 (fifty-six point five) million inhabitants in England, more exactly 56,490,048 (fifty-six million four hundred and ninety thousand forty-eight).

England's area is about 130,395 (one hundred and thirty thousand three hundred and ninety-five) square kilometres.

It is separated into 48 (forty-eight) counties.

England's flag consists of a straight red cross on a white background. It is known as St George's Cross.

England's currency is the Sterling Pound (£ - GBP).

As England is a monarchy, King Charles III (the third) is the head of state. When Charles III dies, the heir to the throne will be his elder son with Lady Diana Spencer. His name is William.

The Prime Minister's name is Rishi Sunak, he is the head of government. He is in power for 5 (five) years.

England's emblems are the lion

the rose

The lion usually represents the English Sports team because of its fighting character and bravery. The rose represents the national rugby team and is a symbol of peace.

In England, you can also eat traditional dishes such as Fish & Chips, Roast beef or bangers and mash.

Actually Bangers and mash are sausages and mashed potatoes.

The most famous drink is tea (a cuppa tea).

England is also famous for its capital, London. There, you can see :

The Tower of London,

the Tower Bridge,

Buckingham Palace,

the Houses of Parliament

Big Ben

the London Eye